

Stories Needed!

My name is Mario Alejandre, I currently serve on the Preparing for Amazement Board. It is a privilege for me to send this email to you. Thank you for being a participant in our Pastors4Pastors initiative. We hope it has been a blessing to you.

As we launch into a new season of life and ministry, we want to invite others to join our team. This is where you come in: We are asking our current donors to write a short testimonial (a paragraph or two about why you support Preparing for Amazement. It can include the fruit you've seen within your own faith community (stories are such a powerful tool) as a result of the work we've done together and why you would encourage churches and pastors to partner with us.

We want to share your stories with our growing community. Please be praying with and for us we invite others to join us for the first time and encourage our current partners to continue to support our work. Our work is dependent on the continued generosity of people who share our passion to see faith communities become healthy and the global church revitalized.

We will share your testimonials as a way of getting the story of what God is doing through Preparing for Amazement out. We are believing for 100 P4A partners to commit to $22 a week for the remainder of 2022. Your stories are central to that invitation. If you would be willing to send us a testimonial, it would mean more than you can know. We'd like to receive them all by April 10th. Please email them to info@amazed15.org. If you have any questions don't hesitate to ask.

Keep your eyes open for updates!

Grace and Peace,
Mario Alejandre
